Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In each of claims 1,7 and 12, "said side portion" (singular) is ambiguous since "side portions" (plural) have previously been recited.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tonnesen in view of Swan and further in view of Applicant's disclosure.

Tonnesen discloses the rods 20, brackets 10 and curtain body, which is capable of being wound onto a rod. The concept of mounting rods vertically, i.e. on lateral sides of the window, is taught by Swan. In view of this teaching, it would have been obvious to modify Tonnesen whereby his brackets are mounted so as to support the rods vertically so as to render mounting the curtain easier. Regarding the material, Applicant states that such material is conventional (page 4) and using such for a curtain would have been obvious so as to permit viewing out but to provide privacy within. The use of plastic would have been an obvious design choice so as to achieve the advantages thereof.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
